Division 52: International Psychology
Convention Program
August 3 – 6, 2017
Washington, D.C.
Welcome Division 52

Colleagues:

In 2017 Division 52 celebrates its 20th anniversary, building on the knowledge of the past to address the pressing themes of the present and future. As the Division of International Psychology in APA, one of our goals is to illustrate how and why psychological theory, research, education, training, practice, advocacy, service, and leadership can help address global issues and needs.

Consider, for example, the role of Division 52 and its network of internationally-minded psychologists in addressing sustainable goals such as poverty reduction, good health and well-being, quality education, gender equality, reduced inequalities, sustainable cities and communities, climate action, and peace and justice. The members of Division 52 are particularly well-positioned to make a credible difference and chart a compelling course for the future. In fact, we believe Division 52 represents the global potential not only of American psychology, but how colleagues and students around the world may – in the words of APA’s mission – apply “psychological knowledge to benefit society and improve people's lives."

In honor of the past, the present, and the future potential of Division 52, we invite you to explore these issues with us in Washington D.C. this August at the annual APA Convention. In addition to a series of compelling symposia and poster sessions, and to featured conversations and gatherings in the Division Suite – Marriott Marquis 10-070, this year’s events will include a celebration that will enable us to truly acknowledge our past, present, and future.

Best regards,
Craig Shealy, Ph.D.
Division 52 President, 2017

Please note: Sessions in blue may have particular interest for members of Division 52.
Division 52's Mission:

The Division of International Psychology represents psychologists who are interested in promoting greater global awareness throughout the discipline. The Division encourages cross-national communication through its newsletter, International Psychology Bulletin (IPB), its journal, International Perspectives in Psychology: Research, Consultation, Practice, as well as its website (www.div52.org), listservs, and social media.

The Division encourages international engagement through its programs and initiatives, professional meetings, conference sponsorship, student and ECP programs, and collaboration with APA’s Office of International Affairs. The Division honors and supports international engagement and activities through its awards and convention programming, and a range of activities including initiatives on human rights, international ethics, immigration, women in developing countries, internationalizing the psychology curriculum, cross-cultural research, assessment and counseling, global trauma and disaster, collaboration with international organizations, and student and early career advancement.

What Does Division 52 Do?

The Division of International Psychology (Division 52) represents the interest of all psychologists who foster international connections among psychologists, engage in multicultural research or practice, apply psychological principles to the development of public policy, or are otherwise concerned with individual and group consequences of global events.

To encourage the development of a more international perspective in psychology, Division 52:

- Sponsors programming at the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association to stimulate interest in and share information about international psychology;
- Provides networking opportunities for psychologists from around the world through the division’s newsletter the International Psychology Bulletin, convention programming, and other activities;
- Supports the activities of APA’s International Affairs Office and its Committee on International Relations in Psychology (CIRP);
- Provides a welcoming “home base” for APA’s international affiliates during conventions;
- Promotes the development of international consulting, training, and research opportunities for psychologists with US based international agencies and exchange programs with international agencies based elsewhere; and
- Encourages the internationalization of the psychology curriculum through educational initiatives and resources.
